DIVERSION OF IMMIGRATION FROM THE NORTHERN STATES.—One of the favorite facts of the republican organs in their comparison of Northern and Southern progress is the more rapid increase of population in the Northern States. They will not long have to boast of this. One of the effects of their present policy will be to check the stream immigration, to which the disparity is entirely due. No sooner did it become evident that the Union was in danger of being broken up, and that the imposition of high duties der the Morrill tariff was about to render the Northern States as expensive places to settle in as Europe itself, than the Canada papers began to publish articles proving the superior inducements which that province held out to emigrants. From a discussion which took place recently in the British Parliament on the subject of the Saskatchewan and Red river territory, it is evident that efforts will also be made to divert transatlantic emigration in that direction.

Thus, between the advantages held out to him in those various quarters, and the dearness of everything here, the emigrant will no longer be tempted to try his fortunes amongst us. The agriculturist will go to the British provinces, and the mechanic to the Southern States, where they will find life easier and the rewards of industry more certain. In this way a stop will be put to the settlement of our waste lands, as well as to the large annual influx of capital which we owe to immigration. How long, we ask, will the North, under these circumstances, preserve the ratio of increas in its population which is pointed to as an evidence of its natural superiority over the South?

THE POPULAR VOTE ON THE SOUTHERN CONSTI-TUTION.—The Tribune says that the secession leaders dare not submit their work to the people, because the Louisiana Convention did not think it necessary to obtain a popular vote upon the constitution of the Southern confederacy. Is there no parallel for this in the history of the republican party? In the last Congress Mr. Bigler, Mr. Crittenden and others offered propositions to be submitted to the people to settle the difficulties which threaten to overwhelm the country in ruin, and the republicans took every possible means to prevent an expression of the public opinion thereupon, and they succeeded in so doing. Who dared not submit their work to the people on that occasion?

A CHEERFUL PROSPECT .- The Richmond Whigh informs business men who are "restless under the stagnation of trade and the prospect before them," that "it can't be long until the whole matter will be understood, and business will adapt itself to the necessities of the case and go on." There are some people hereabouts who would be glad to know the exact date of this millenial period. With us things grow worse instead of better. We have a dull summer and a dreary autumn before us.

THE NATIONAL ACADEMY OF DESIGN. The thirty-sixth annual exhibition of the Nation ademy of Design commenced last evening, at the galleries in Tenth street, with the "Private View" which marily precedes the grand opening to the public. of general reception for which two or three thousand tickets of invitation have been issued, and in response to which the clife of the metropolis, male and female, have sthered in large numbers. In the present instance owever, it was a "private" view indeed, those assem bled embracing merely the exhibitors and a few art con noisaeurs, without a solitary feminine form to re-lieve the dreary monotony of black coats and hiraute faces. While one could not help lamenting the absence of the brilliant arabesque pattern of humanity which has graced these occasions before, and the life and animation by which they have been characterized, the defclency was more than made up by the untrammelled op portunity afforded those present to enjoy a critical ex-amination of the works which decorated the walls.

The number of pictures exhibited, according to the catalogue, is five hundred and seventy-seven, and, in point of excellence, it is safe to say that they favorably compare with those of any previous year.

Among the pictures which attracted the most atten tion we may mention the works of Gifford, Huntington, Jerome Thompson, Mignot, Durand, Darley, de Huas, Ingham, Leutze and Jaintin. Numerous other artists contribute the result of their skill, but in the absence of a catalogue and owing to the want of time essential to critical examination of their merits, we defer a more ex-tended notice until another occasion. About two hundred gentlemen were present.

The trial of Augustin Harrassethy has resulted in his acquittal by the jury. The suit was for the recovery of $10,000 on his official bond as melter and redner of the San Francisco Mint, for an alleged deficit of $152,000. The main point of the defence was that the building, machinery, &c., of the mint were wholly inadequate, making great wastage inevitable by manipulation. The other case in which the government sought to recover the entire $152,000 was to depend upon the issue of a suit on the bond. So the defendant stands acquitted by the jury of all charges against him. The District Attorney has

Severe Weather on the Hudson THE SNOW STORMS—PREEZING OVER OF THE RIVER—ROUGH PASSAGE OF THE NEW WORLD—LOW TIDES—BOATS AGROUND, ETC.

For a week past there has been a vary fine sample of muary weather on the Hudson. Snow fell the whole of Wednesday night and part of flursday, nearly all along the river, varying in depth from two to six inches. In the neighborhoods of Poughkeepsie, Peckskill and Rhinebeck the snow was in many places full six inches deep en Thursday, sleighing good for about half a day, when a ahevy showe rof rain ended it. Up to Sunday at two o'clock the weather had moderated considerably, when it again changed, and since that time has been very cold. Between twelve and one o'clock on Sunday it was within a few degrees of zero. The cold continued all Monday, up to seven o'clock at The cold continued all Monday, up to seven o clock at night, when snow began to fall between Poughkeepsie and New York, and yesterday moraing the ground was covered to the depth of three or four inches. But little snow fell above Poughkeepsie, and further towards Albany not any. The weather, however, was bitter cold, and must have been as low as zero. For several days past there has been a constant storm of wind blowing from the north, and this has caused the water in the river to be very low, so much so that in many places the bed of the river, at the sides, is more exposed than for som years past. On Monday moraing the Vanderbilt lay high and dry upon the bar some time, and others are all reported to have run aground, though with less detention. The extreme cold, snow storms, and north winds, have filled the river with ice, causing also serious detention to the boats. The river in many places between Albany and Hudson, yesterday morning, was freezen over tight before the New World out her way through; and at Albany and above the ise was one sheerfrom shore to shore, when the ferry beats crossing at the different points set the mass in motion, floating down with the tide. Floating toe extends between Rhinchock and Albany, about sixty miles. From Newburg to New York there is none worth mentioning. All the streams, creeks and standing water are, however, frozen over—many two and three inches thick. The bay at Hudson is frozen over, and at Livington's creek, between Twoll and Barrytown, two fishermen were creesing en foot as the express train passes that point at half-past ten o'clock yester-day morning, did not arrive in that city until half-past ten o'clock yesterday morning, and though it.

The Bergen Wife Potsoning Case. On Monday a death blow was given to the last remaining hope of saving William Abson from the scaffold, by the decision of the Court of Pardons, sitting at Trenton, which refused to entertain the proposition of commutation of sentence or to interfere in any way with the speedy consummation of justice. He will therefore be hung on Wednesday, the 10th of April. This stern and oner, since he begins to change the almost brutelike st wnequivocal decision has had a salutary effect on the prisoner, since he begins to change the almost brutelike stolidity and indifference which characterized his conduct throughout the trial, to more human attributes, and has even on several occasions evinced momentary symptoms of repentance. He is attended religiousement by the Rov. Mr. Noble, who bails with delight the faintest appearance of contrition or piety, after his long and heretofore unminded and fruitless ministrations.

The most affecting somes are occasioned by the visits of the charges of about. There are six—two by a previous, and four by the wife for whose death he stands otherwhele—all of whom are unable to appreciate the fearful position of their father except the eldest, Elizabeth, whe was one or the principal witnesses for the unsuccessful defence, and aged about sixteen years. These little ones cluster around their parent, totally unable to account for his long continued absence from home and present unexplained incarceration. To their numerous inquiries for the desired information, Abson replies with tears—the appearance of which cause all further importunity to cease.

The preparations for the execution are being pushed rapidly forward. In the rear of the Hudson cuty—a strong brick wall, twelve feet high, will be erected, and be arranged so as to preclude the possibility of satisfaction of the morbib craving and melancholy want of decency which generally attract—a large crowd on similar tragic occasions. In this enciceed space the gallows will be erected, upon which che wednessay, the loth day of April, a terrible lesson will be taught of the impotency of concealment and certainty of punishment of any flendish and successful attempt to produce a permanent divorce from an uncongenial partner of wedices.

Tickets of admission will be issued by Sheriff Francis, with a view to shut cut the presence of all persons not particularly called upon by duty or other wise to be present.

The Chief Engineer of the Fire Department of the East The Chief Engineer of the Fire Department of the Eastern District presented a very interesting report, showing the condition of the department and the number of fires and alarms during the past year. The document discloses that there are in the department 1 chief engineer and 5 assistants, $12 firemen, 12 engine, 3 hose and 3 hock and ladder companies. There are 286 lengths of hose, of which 100 lengths (equivalent to 5,000 feet) are in ordinary, and 85 lengths (4,250 feet) in bad condition. Superior hose of 10 lengths to each engine, and 20 lengths to each hose company, making 280 lengths (equal to 14,000 feet), were required, and the Chief Engineer should be authorized to purchase immediately 5000 feet of good hose. During the past year there have been 571 bell and 33 still alarms. The number of fires were 51. The report concluded by stating that the department was prosperous and in a state of general efficiency. The report was ordered to be printed.

The Board adjourned at an early hour.

A Brief Address

WEARERS OF SOFT FELT HATS.

Presuming that to obtain a first class article at a cheap price is an object with every sensible man, i will prove in a few words my ability to supply the public with superior soft hats, at a lower figure than is asked for them elsewhere.

All my fabrica in this line are modelled and made in my own factory, while in all the rotal but stores in Broadway the roft felt hats offered for sale are the preducts of other parties, who make their profit upon them before the store-teeper makes his. Thus the purchaser pays both the manufacturer's profit in the price of the hat be tuys. By purchasing at first hand this double charge is avoided. I have no manufacturer's profit to 93. I save it by making the fabrice my self. Consequently I can afford to who desire to put this matter to the proof are invited to call at my establishment, IB Nassau sireet, and examine and judge for themselves.
